ALL SOULS REQUIEM MASS / OFFEREN RECWIEM YR HOLL ENEIDIAU

2nd November 6pm at St Peter's Church Pwllheli

At this service, those from Bro Enlli who have died during the past year and those whom have been asked to be included will be prayed for by name.

Bydd y gwasanaeth hwn yn rhoi cyfle i fyfyrion ar fywydau'r rhai yr ydym wedi eu caru a colli. Bydd cyfle i gynnuau kannwyll mewn gweddi a chōf am eich un annwyl. Fe'ch gwahoddir yn gynnes i ymuno â ni.

This service provides an opportunity to reflect on the lives of those we have loved and lost and to light a candle in prayer and remembrance. Names of those to be prayed for can be added to the lists held in each church which are to be returned to Fr Huw by 28th October.

BANC BWYD PWLLHELI FOODBANK

Christmas is quite close now and the food bank is very busy during the festive season. As well as providing our normal food packs to people who are unable to pay for food for themselves and their families, we have a special day when we give out Christmas goodies to our customers. Also on that day, we ask all of our referring agencies to issue a special voucher to families which they work with who are able to buy sufficient food but have no spare money for treats at Christmas. We would be grateful for donations of chocolate and sweets for children or teenagers, tins of ham and salmon, biscuits, mince pies, Christmas puddings, gifts for children, crisps, cheese etc. We also provide an advent calendar to children who rely on the foodbank so that they can talk with their friends at school or nursery about what was behind their window each day. There will be a coffee morning at 10:30 on 24th November in St Peter's church Pwllheli to help us make sure that Christmas is special for all families in this beautiful part of the world. Thank you to everybody who has supported the foodbank throughout the year – your help is much appreciated. Fr Huw.

SAME-SEX MARRIAGE – INSPIRING DEBATE AT OUR GOVERNING BODY

The Governing body of 100 people from around the whole of Wales is made up of clergy and lay people. Apart from the fact that some people are wearing little white collars and a handful are wearing purple shirts, everybody is equal in sharing a goal of discerning what is best for our church communities throughout Wales. We are not all the same however when it comes to deciding our priorities and ways of achieving those. In two conferences each year, everyone has an opportunity to raise questions, hear the thoughts of others and to vote on a way forward. Two of the questions raised recently (paraphrasing) were:

How is the church to minister to people who identify themselves as LGBTQ+ ?

Do we want to move forward with the debate on same-sex marriages ?

Out of all the people that spoke over several hours, the one that impressed me the most was a young vicar (an evangelical conservative I think) who said “my church is growing in numbers, the people who come to my church share my traditional theology. My Archdeacon's church is growing in numbers, the people who go to his church share his modern theology that supports the LGBTQ+ community. We have many differences but he and I work together to successfully share the Gospel and bring people closer to God”. I found this inspiring. It gave me hope that we can find a way forward in the debate on same-sex marriage without dividing our church. We voted overwhelmingly to move forward with the debate on same-sex marriage to the wider church community.

Another lasting memory was the Archbishop of Wales asking me to assist in giving the communion wafers at the Eucharist service to the Governing body. A lay woman who had once turned her back on God standing alongside a male Bishop, serving others in equal measure. That is another vision of hope! Susan Fogarty.
